San Francisco General Hospital Foundation Announces Final Call for 2014 ‘Hearts in San Francisco’ Artists

Deadline approaching for annual art fundraising project, benefiting the San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center

Monday, August 5, 2013

SAN FRANCISCO (July 15, 2013) – The search for new heart designs is almost over. Bay Area artists only have a few more weeks to submit their renderings for the 2014 Hearts in San Francisco series. The San Francisco General Hospital Foundation (SFGHF) announced today the final request for submissions for the 10th anniversary of the fundraising project. The chosen heart artworks will be sold or auctioned at the ninth annual Heroes & Hearts Luncheon at AT&T Park on Thursday, February 13, 2014, with proceeds benefitting the life-enhancing programs at the heart of our city, San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center. Applications can be downloaded at www.sfghf.net/hh and renderings must be submitted by the Monday, August 5, 2013 deadline.

Artists have the option to propose a design for either a large (5' tall x 5'9" wide x 3'3" deep) or tabletop (14" tall x 17" wide x 8" deep) heart that will be sold or auctioned during the Heroes & Hearts luncheon. Select large hearts remain on display in San Francisco's Union Square. ‘Hearts in San Francisco’ artworks combined with Heroes & Hearts and Hearts After Dark proceeds (2004 - 2013) have raised nearly $10 million for SFGHF.

“When I came across the opportunity to submit work for the Hearts in San Francisco project, I felt that it would be a wonderful way to support my local community,” says Trinh Mai, 2013 Heart Artist. “I was thrilled to be able to contribute to SFGHF and support such a worthy cause through my artwork. It was special to share this experience with fellow artists, as we are reminded that art not only makes great changes in the hearts of the artists, but that art also benefits the people of our community in aspects both tangible and intangible.”

About 'Hearts in San Francisco'

The city-wide public art project, 'Hearts in San Francisco' was introduced in 2004, featuring 130 five-foot tall heart sculptures designed by local and national established and emerging artists. The unique works of art were featured in plazas, parks and on street corners throughout San Francisco. To conclude the public art display, hearts were auctioned and sold with proceeds benefitting SFGHF and its efforts to fund projects and initiatives that provide quality care at San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center. Since then, more than 100 hearts have been created to benefit programs at The General.
